Medical Center Required to Undertake $3.4 Million Expansion

Health officials at state and Federal levels have pointed the finger at the Princeton Medical Center and as a result, the hospital faces an immediate requirement to start a $3,400,000 expansion program.

John W. Kauffman, president of the Medical Center, told the Princeton Regional Planning Board last week that the New Jersey Department of Health's licensing board says the hospital's surgery and nursing stations do not meet current standards of size and room layout.

And over at "Merwick," the extended-care and rehabilitation unit of the Center, the old "Merwick" mansion has been declared "nonconforming" by both the state, and the Medicare Division of the Federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The designation is linked to materials used many years ago to build the big old house. Although modern fire-prevention systems have been installed throughout, government officials say the building can no longer by used for in-patients.

The Center plans to add two and one-half floors to its "J" Building—that's the big, main hospital structure, built in the late 1960's. It was originally designed and constructed to support ten floors.

Already announced publicly are plans to add one floor to the 1969 building at "Merwick" to replace the 18 beds that will be lost when the old house is no longer used for patients.

Then, there is still another aspect of Center expansion. Private houses along Harris Road and Henry Avenue are gradually being acquired by the Center as they come on the market. In May, the Center went to the Township Zoning Board for the special permit required to convert the house at 45 Henry Avenue to hospital offices.

The Zoning Board, uneasy at the thought of modest-size houses being plucked out of Princeton's skimpy supply, delayed action and told the Center to lay its long-range plans before the Planning Board

(Incidentally, in spite of this concern on the part of the Township Zoning Board, nobody from the board showed up at the Planning Board meeting to hear Mr. Kauffman explain what the Center wants to do.)

The Medical Center, like many another Princeton institution, is hamstrung by the existence of two Princetons. To get permission to use 45 Henry Avenue, the Center must appear before the Township Zoning Board. To get permission for its major remodeling, it must go before the Borough Zoning Board, because the "J" Building and "Merwick" are in the Borough in residential zones.

Long-range, the Center would love to see the Planning Board rezone that whole Harris-Henry-Witherspoon-Franklin area to "Hospital Zone." Planning Board members say this is a major factor which the board and its consultant must consider when work begins this fall on a master plan for community facilities in Princeton.

Meanwhile, the Center, pressed by the state-Federal mandates,

Princeton Mayors Urge Gov. Byrne To Modify Tax Proposals

Princeton's two mayors, one a Democrat and one a Republican, have joined in a letter to Governor Brendan Byrne urging the governor to modify his tax proposals along the lines of the Tax Policy Commission report of two years ago. That report was the basis for the tax proposals of former Governor William T. Cahill.

Specifically, Township Mayor Jay Bleiman and Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley ask the governor for:

- a uniform state-wide property tax of $1 or $1.25.
- an income-tax closer to the Cahill plan and its rates.
- assumption by the state of a greater percentage of the burden of school costs---perhaps 67 percent, as in the Cahill proposal, rather than 50 percent as Governor Byrne proposes.
- limits on tax rates for local and county purposes.

"The major failing of your tax package," the mayors have written, "is that it does not go far enough in relieving the LOCAL property tax of the burden of public school costs."

In the first place, the Byrne plan takes only one-half of school costs off the local property-tax base, in contrast to the Cahill plan's removal of two-thirds. In the second place: "By setting an 'equalized power' of $106,000 of local rateables behind every student as the base for state aid, your plan only reinforces the linkage of local property valuation to local public school costs," the mayors say; "Princeton, by being above that base, loses all state aid.

Pressure for more rateables and fewer children will therefore continue unabated. Resistance against the provision of low and moderate-income housing would be stiffened, not only in Princeton but in all suburban communities."

School Tax Would Rise. Commenting on the Cahill proposals, the mayors declare that under the Cahill plan, expenditures needed to keep the level of quality in Princeton's schools would have been less than the school tax rate that was in effect at that time in Princeton. Under Governor Byrne's proposals, they say the school tax rate would increase.

Because the state, under the Cahill plan, assumed a larger percentage of the local burden of school costs, the letter says, "there was measureable property-tax relief, even for the Princetons. Under the proposed plan, there is none."

The mayors applaud the "circuit-breaker" concept, designed to help lower-income families. But they point out to Governor Byrne that "there will be no property-tax relief for the majority of Princeton residents."

Princeton may be an "affluent suburb" with many wealthy people, but most of the town consists of middle-to-upper-middle-income families, the mayors explain.

"These families see no reduction in their property taxes, and only a substantial overall net increase in taxes under your proposals through the state income-tax."

Princeton residents, no matter how sympathetic to the ideas in the Byrne tax package, "feel---as do we---that it will hurt them more than it should, and most importantly, more than would an alternative package that could achieve the same objectives, and yield the same or more revenues for the state."

The mayors cite the defeat of the school bond referendum June 25. "That defeat was, to a significant measure, caused by the apprehension of voters about the impact of your pakage upon the Princetons" the mayors declare.

In the end, before extending Governor Byrne "all best wishes in your difficult days ahead," Mayor Bleiman and Mayor Cawley say that if an alternative like the one they propose, proves impossible, "we hereby record our support for your overall tax plan....by far the best for all the present and future needs of our state and its people. Nevertheless, we prefer a plan which we think would be more equitable and we are urging our legislators to consider it."

Borough Disturbed over Tax Proposal

A three-line section in one of 26 highly detailed tax bills in the Byrne package has brought consternation to Borough voters generally, and to Borough Council and former Councilman Charles Cornforth in particular.

The proposal would require towns that belong to a regional school system to share school costs on a rateables basis, not on a per-pupil basis, as Borough and Township share costs of the Princeton school system.

Mr. Cornforth appeared Monday night before Council in executive session and has conferred at length with State Senator Anne Martindell, who lives in Princeton Borough, and with Herbert Starkey of the Department of Education. Mr. Cornforth's figures show a straight transfer from Township to Borough of $472,000 in school costs if the system is changed.

At the moment, the question is academic. The provision is part of the "through and efficient" education bill passed Monday by the State Senate. The entire section of that bill devoted to school financing was deleted before passage, and the rateables requirement was in that section.

State Senator Anne Martindell's office said on Tuesday that the Senator is writing to Attorney General William Hyland asking for a legal opinion on the present system of apportioning costs within a regional school district. Senator Stephen Wiley, author of the proposed change, has said he doesn't think courts will accept a per-pupil formula because it penalizes towns with many children.

Senator Martindell says that if Mr. Hyland thinks per-pupil costs are constitutional, she'll make every effort to get the Wiley bill amended. If the Attorney General thinks per-pupil costs may be unconstitutional, she'll agree to leave the bill as it stands.

COUNCIL SKIRMISHES

With Police and Dogs. Two skirmishes---one almost jocular, the other in dead earnest---occupied Borough Council Tuesday night.

The lighter of the two resulted in passage of the 24-hour leash law to restrain dogs. It will go into effect August 15.

The other began with a picketing circle of some two dozen police officers outside Borough Hall before Council's meeting began. After Council had assembled, the men moved inside and lined up on either side of the Council chamber, bearing such placards as "Mayor and Council Unfair to Police," or "Support Your Police." (See related story on Page 3)

Fred Schragger, attorney for the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, said to Council "We ask that you DO negotiate: not just that you attend negotiating sessions."

He said he had tried for four months to discuss a single word in one clause of the contract, and charged Councilman Joseph P. Moore, the Police Commissioner, with refusing to discuss the word with municipal attorney Gordon Griffin. When Mr. Schragger went himself to Mr. Griffin, the municipal attorney told him the word he wanted was in order. Mr. Schragger said. He also said he had tried for four months to get funeral leave policy in writing.

"We want a discussion of language," he told Council.

"The real issue isn't language--that's just a legal ploy," Mr. Moore replied. "The real issue is money. We think a 7.5 percent increase is adequate. What we can most reasonably pay municipal employees--that's my obligation."

The PBA is asking for 10.5 percent, and began by asking for a 15 percent increase.

Mooney a Scapegoat. Referring to the PBA statement of this week, Mr. Moore said, "It is regrettable that they are using Bob Mooney as a scapegoat, blaming him for holding up negotiations. This is not the case. Mr. Mooney has justly represented the position of the Commissioner, Mayor and Council."

"Everyone has the right to demonstrate," Mr. Moore said. "But I find this in bad taste and unprofessional and I hope taxpayers will agree. Borough police talk about their professionalism: the way to resolve problems professionally is to negotiate at the bargaining table."

Former Councilman Charles Cornforth said he was disturbed at charges the Borough wasn't willing to discuss items. Mr. Moore denied the Borough had refused to discuss anything.

Dogs. The dog leash law passed by 4-1, Arthur Morgan voting "no." Councilman Martin P. Lombardo was absent. He had told the press earlier in the day that he would not cross the PBA picket line.

Councilman Moore announced that remembrance of a six-year old friend with plastic surgery following a dog bite, had caused him to reverse his opposition to the measure and he voted "yes."

In contrast to the June hearing, this one was cheerful, with good humor, though some of it was scatalogical.

"Have you smelled the sandbox in the Chestnut Street playground?" demanded an indignant supporter.

Council member Barbara Sigmund reported statistics from the Township's 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. law: 49 bites from 1,600 dogs, compared to 49 bites from the Borough's 800 dogs.

Dean Adele Simmons said Princeton University requires rabies shots and registration and visual-vocal control. "It is extremely difficult to enforce," she conceded.

When someone asked how you get a Township dog to come home at 7 a.m. in obedience to the ordinance, the reply was, "Teach him to tell time." An unidentified voice asked, "Does that make him a watch dog?"

Hospital Expansion

can't wait for long-range action by the Planning Board.

Center spokesmen expect to appear before the Planning Board in September for approval of site plans, and to ask the board if it will pass along to the Borough Zoning Board a favorable recommendation for either a use variance or a conditional use variance, whichever one lawyers think is necessary. (If it's a use variance, the Center faces still another step: approval by Borough Council, if the Zoning Board says "yes.")

On July 24, the Township Zoning Board will hear an informal report from Planning Board member Golda Gottlieb on the Center's plans. She will probably tell them what Mr. Kauffman told the Planning Board; that the Center wants not only 45 Henry Avenue, but 25, 29 and 41 Henry Avenue also and 36 Harris Road.

Mr. Kauffman laughs with some irony when people talk about these houses as "middle-income" or "low-income."

Three Henry Avenue houses are now on the market at $100,000 each, he says, and that's the price the Center paid for the double house on the corner of Witherspoon and Henry now used as "Corner House."

Houses already in Center ownership, are used as housing for "para-medical personnel"—hospital language for nurses, technicians and so on—and for such administrative functions as the Development office and Public Relations. Eventually, the Center wants to build a 400-car parking garage where some of these houses now are, but that's very long-range in Center planning.

Parking vs. Services. Parking is an irritation to everyone visiting the Center, but Mr. Kauffman said bluntly,

"Doctors and the Center's board think medical services are more important than parking."

Right now, in any case, there isn't any choice.

State licensing people aren't requiring a different type of surgery, Mr. Kauffman explained to the Planning Board. But the present rooms were built in 1926. For today's sophisticated techniques with open-heart surgery, pacemaker implants, the kind of big surgery that may take 8-12 hours, and that goes on in the Center all the time, present facilities just aren't adequate.

Clean-up space is too small, also, Mr. Kauffman pointed out, and this means the Center can't have enough material always ready for surgery. More isolation rooms, treatment rooms and storage rooms are essential, the state has ruled.

No Additional Beds. Enlarging and remodeling means losing beds, and the two and one-half-story addition is simply to replace beds lost, not to add any new ones, Mr. Kauffman emphasized.

Actually, the Center's need for beds has dropped since the hospital's 1967 master plan, drawn up to project future need. The 1967 plan predicted that more beds would be needed by 1975. This is no longer the case. No new beds will be required until 1980 or perhaps 1985, Mr. Kauffman said.

"We would be hurting for beds now, if we hadn't bought Princeton House," Mr. Kauffman continued.

This is the Mt. Lucas Road building for treatment of drug, alcohol, senility, adolescent and psychiatric problems. The Center uses 84 beds in Princeton House out of the 134 potential beds there.

"Also, if we don't replace those 18 'Merwick' beds, we'll be hurting because we transfer patients out of the main acute-general hospital into 'Merwick' for extended-care."

The Center has reduced the average length of a patient's stay from 8.5 days to 6—one of the lowest averages in New Jersey, according to Mr. Kauffman.

At present, the Center has 419 beds. Of these, 242 are in the "acute-general" hospital; 93 in "Merwick" and 84 in Princeton House.

$90,000 Per Bed. Construction costs in 1974 bring the price of each new bed to $90,000, Mr. Kauffman said. (This means Princeton House was a bargain, he calculates: the buiding cost $2.2 million in 1972 so that the 84 beds only cost $26,000 per bed.

However, Mr. Kauffman presented figures which he says show that the actual cost of being cared for in the Center is lower than the average patient might think.

If you broke your hip in 1963, he told Planning Board members, you spent 30 days in the hospital at $47.15 per day for a total bill of $1,414. If you broke your hip last year, you spent only 8-10 days in the hospital at $109 a day, or $1,090. You spent 15 days recuperating at "Merwick" at $46 a day for $690 and five days at home under $25-per-day home care, or $125, for a grand total of $1,905.

Mr. Kauffman compares this 35 percent increase to a nationwide rise in the cost of living of 45 percent.

At Princeton House, you pay $58 a day, which would be $1,218 for a 21-day stay. In 1963, before the days of Princeton House, you would have had only the main "acute-general" hospital in which to receive treatment, which would have been $990.15 for 21-days' stay at $47.15 a day. Again, Mr. Kauffman compared this 23 percent increase to the general inflationary picture, adding that the 1974 patient has the benefit of Princeton House's specialized facilities.

Hospital to Center. Existence of units like Princeton House, "Merwick" and the main hospital, plus the Medical Arts Building with its component doctors, the Center's Community Health Services that take health care into the home, and so on, are the reason the institution changed its name from a "hospital" to a "center."

The Medical Arts Building is owned by the Center, which collects rent from the doctors. In turn, the doctors' professional needs support laboratory and x-ray facilities at the Center, which couldn't economically operate such highly-sophisticated equipment alone, without doctors close at hand to give it constant use, Mr. Kauffman told the board.

What impresses Mr. Kauffman most—and what he hopes will also impress the Planning Board—is that none of these sophisticated facilities would be possible without the support of communities outside Princeton.

In 1972, he said, only 20 percent of the Center's patients came from Borough and Township; 80 percent lived in the Center's radius area, which includes Jamesburg and Allentown on the south, Franklin Park to the east, Belle Mead on the north and Hopewell to the west.

"Without the support of these outlying areas," Mr. Kauffman declared, "Borough and Township residents couldn't have the kind of care the Center gives now."

Financing a Package. Financing of new construction will be a matter of assembling a package. Federal Hill-Burton Act money will help, and the Center will apply for such aid. New laws in New Jersey allow a bond issue, which at 6½ percent would be cheaper than borrowing from a standard lending institution. A major community fund-raising effort will probably be launched, also.

The Center's '74 budget is $12,479,000. The institution has 881 full and part-time employees and a medical staff of 207.

Police Picket Borough Hall, Some Progress Expected in Talks

FIRST POLICE PICKET: Members of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association 130 led by its negotiating committee chairman Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm (foreground) picket Borough Hall last week. Police were seeking support and urging Council to bargain fairly in contract talks which have dragged on since last November. The quiet, 90-minute police picket was the first ever of Borough Hall. Story this page.

Although the impasse between the Policemen's Benevolent Association 130 and Borough Council continues, there are signs in the wake of police picketing last week that a settlement or at least some solid progress wil be made soon.

Mayor Robert Cawley announced at his press conference Tuesday that there will be a meeting Thursday between members of the Local 130 negotiation committee and borough officials. And Administrator Robert Mooney, who with Police Commissioner Joseph Moore is representing Council in the talks, said Tuesday that he expects something to develop soon.

Police, who have been working without a contract since January despite negotiations which they say began last November, stepped up the pressure last Tuesday when they picketed Borough Hall for the first time ever, and thus fulfilled a threat to take some kind of public action.

Eighteen members of the PBA Local 130 took part in the hour and one-half demonstration. But if police had hoped to get a reaction from Borough officials they were disappointed.

Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm, chairman of the negotiating committee, said that the police pickets had hoped that "...at least Mr. Mooney or someone would have come out and said, 'Is this necessary?' but no one said a word."

"We don't like to do this," Ptl. Wilhelm said, "It isn't appropriate but...shoot, you can be hungry for only so long." If picketing didn't work, Ptl. Wilhelm said that they would seek "more bodies" from the County and State PBA organizations. "There's more to come," he promised.

At issue are salary—police are reported to be asking for a 10.5 per cent increase and Council has allegedly refused to budge from its offer of 7.5 per cent—and other issues, including overtime pay, insurance coverage, and longevity increments.

"We're asking 10.5," acknowledged Ptl. Wilhelm, "but that's just a number. We can be bargained with; we will negotiate."

Salary Basic Issue. Mr. Mooney commented that he felt the basic issue was salary increase and once that was agreed on the other issues would soon fall in line.

In their picketing, police carried signs saying, 'Support your local policemen. Urge Borough Council to bargain fairly.' In a prepared statement, the PBA 130 charged Mr. Mooney with stalling the progress of the talks, of failing to arrive at meeting with facts and figures he previously agreed to obtain and with issuing false information to the press.

The statement further accuses Mr. Mooney of making false statement about police insurance in allegedly claiming that the police department presently has the second highest plan available from Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

With the exception of Rider J, the present police insurance coverage is the lowest of three available plans, Ptl. Wilhelm contends. Mr. Mooney denied the charge and said that he had discussed at length over time pay and longevity with the police committee. He denied that he has refused to produce promised information.

The police statement also charges Mr. Moore with offering a percentage raise on behalf of the Council only to retract it later and reinstate a lower offer. Mr. Moore has labeled the police charges that he and Council are refusing to negotiate in good faith as "semi-ridiculous" and called the picketing by police "extremely unprofessional."

The PBA statement concluded that it was "surprised and dismayed by the utter lac of concern by Borough Council for good faith bargaining."

"Bargain in good faith—that's all we're trying to do," said Ptl. Wilhelm. "We've talked the last three months but that's all we're doing is talking; we're not saying anything."

CAN YOU OUTWIT...?

(The shuttle?) "It's gotten to be a game," sighed Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley this week, describing the lenghts people will go to, in order to keep from using the shuttle to get to work.

How not to get ticketed for meter-feeding? Go out and move your car between customers in your shop. Park on residential streets—more and more of that—remove the chalk marks from your customers' tires, and take turns with your working colleagues in removing chalk-marks from each other's tires.....

A serious problem in getting employees and employers to use the shuttle, is the problem of the a-typical worker: the one who works part-time or odd hours, the one who needs a car for the job.

"We're considering a permit system," Mayor Cawley said, "but it's a mind-boggling assignment to figure out! We would even encourage pooling: several people driving in to Jadwin, parking, then driving into town in just one car. Not good for the shuttle, of course."

Fewer than 25 people have been riding the shuttle in its morning rungs; inexplicably, as many as 50 often ride in the late afternoon.

"We feel not many people have tried the shuttle," the mayor continued, "if people would try, they'd find it's not all that inconvenient."

The mayor said the Borough is also considering a ticket parking lot—probably at the library—where drivers would pay 15 cents an hour for the first two hours, scaled up to $3 or $4 for an 8 -10 hour stay. This would mean that if you're a minute or two late, you wouldn't get a fine.

Incidentally, the Trinity lot has many unused long-term meters, the mayor revealed.

BUY QUARRY?

Still a Question. The June 29 barbecue held by the Princeton Quarry Park Association raised about $300, according to Association president John DeGrazia, but it's not quite enough to meet the appraised value of $267,000 for four acres, more or less, of quarry land.

Mayor Robert W. Cawley speculated this week that the Borough itself, without state or Federal help, might buy the land for a park, and sell the six acres of the old sewer field off Elm Road to break even.

The Borough has applied for state Green Acres money, and will apply for Federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (BOR) funds. But the BOR application is past the spring deadline, and nobody knows whether the legislature will act in time to get a Green Acres referendum on the November ballot.

"Meantime, do we wait or go ahead?" Mayor Cawley asked his press conference.

"Go ahead," would mean opening discussions with Charles LaPlaca, owner of the quarry site, deciding how much acreage to buy, what kind of recreation to provide, and so on.

"We'd prefer Federal or state funding so we can leave the sewer field," the mayor said. It's now used as a municipal dump for leaves and wood-chips. Part of the land is in the flood-plain, and part is in the Township. It's in a single-family zone.

Meanwhile, the Princeton Quarry Park Association has about $1,000 in its fund. Bake sales and another summer barbecue will add to the amount. Mr. DeGrazia says the money will be used to pay for grading the lumpy and somewhat scruffy soil, landscaping the "fill" area and working the soil to a better degree of tilth, so that elderly residents of nearby Lloyd Terrace can grow vegetables.

Work-parties of residents in the Spruce-Linden-Hamilton neighborhood will do the work of renovating the site, according to Mr. DeGrazia, even providing such skilled labor as mason-work to repair an old stone wall, and horticultural expertise to repair damaged trees.

Assuming, of course, the Borough acquires the land.

SITE CHANGE PROPOSED

For '76 Amphitheater. West Windsor Township may have found an ally, namely the City of Trenton, in its continuing fight against location of the proposed New Jersey Historical Drama Association amphitheater in the Township's portion of Mercer County Central Park.

Some residents of West Windsor have been vocal in their opposition to the amphitheater, which they feel will turn their Township into a tourist attraction. Several members of Trenton's City Council, meanwhile, say they might like to have the amphitheater in their town.

The Drama Association wants the 2,500-seat amphitheater to be the showcase for the musical production it is preparing in commemoration of the Bicentennial, "In Freedom We'll Live." The Drama Association is seeking permission from the Mercer County Park Commission to begin work on the $3 million project. Commission president Richard Coffee has declared his support for the plan.

West Windsor residents continue to protest, however, and on Monday of this week the perfect solution was proposed at City Council. Thomas W. O'Neil, a Republican candidate for Mercer County Freeholder, suggested that the outdoor theater be located in Trenton's Cadwalader Park.

Mr. O'Neil pointed out that West Windsor does not want hotels, restaurants and other commercial facilities that might accompany the project, but that Trenton's economy could use the extra business. The project could help stimulate nighttime jobs and activities in Trenton.

Opposition Continues. Other councilmen ruled out the park because of inadequate parking, but were enthusiastic about having it either indoors at the War Memorial or outdoors near the Trent House museum. At either site Route 29 could serve as an access road and state parking lots could provide adequate parking after office hours.

The Trenton discussions followed modifications of the plans of the Historical Drama Association. The group announced it would allow Mercer County limited use of the amphitheater during the 10-week period each summer that the play would run.

It would also limit the total run of the production to five to eight years, at which time the facility would be turned over to the county free of charge.

Mr. Coffee termed the action a "major compromise." Teena Cahill, an opponent of the amphitheater, did not agree. She said a drive to raise legal funds to battle the project in the courts would be continued.

NEW PRESIDENT

For PCH. After almost seven years of patience, fortitude, diligence and faith, Theodore Vial has stepped down as president of Princeton Community Housing, Inc. He will continue with PCH as a member of the board of trustees.

Dr. Vial will be succeeded by Mrs. Marianne Rees, who has been vice-president. She, in turn, will be succeeded by Carl Pope. Lankford Bolling has been re-elected treasurer and Vivian Carlin, secretary and trustee-at-large.

The PCH board consists of representatives of the various educational and religious organizations composing PCH. Mrs. Rees represents the Unitarian Church; Dr. Vial, Nassau Presbyterian (he was the First Presbyterian representative before the merger that created Nassau); Mr. Pope, the Institute for Advanced Study; Mr. Bolling, Witherspoon Street Presbyterian and Mrs. Carlin, the community at large.

PCH was formed in October, 1967, to work for state-financed middle-income housing for the Princeton community. Dr. Vial has been its first and only president. PCH's journeys through the labyrinth of state and municipal regulation have occupied him almost full-time for close to seven years.

"I'm very grateful for the opportunity to work with PCH," he said in a valedictory, "I appreciate very much the support I had from trustees during some very trying times, and I look forward to continuing on the board under Mrs. Rees – she's top-notch!"

Ahead for PCH---ground was broken for the Bunn Drive project on Memorial Day—are working out management policies, tenant selection criteria and so on.

PHS IS ATTACKED

By Rampaging Vandals. After Sgt. Robert Anderson completed his report on the vandalism over the weekend at Princeton High School, he added a personal observation that in his opinion the intruders went on vandalism spree after discovering the school was "not a fruitful place to break into."

Today Princeton...Tomorrow...?

The July 15 issue of Time magazine is dedicated to "Leadership in America." There, in a listing Time calls "200 Faces for the Future," is William G. Bowen of 83 Stockton Street. Says Time of Princeton University's president:

"William G. Bowen, 40, a trim, onetime tennis champion at Denison University, became president of Princeton at age 38. Co-author of 'Performing Arts–The Economic Dilemma' (1966), a pioneering study of the finance of culture, Bowen is a practical as well as a scholarly economist: as Princeton's former provost, he put in a budgetary system that erased the school's operating deficit in two years. A thoughtful scholar and decisive administrator, he has notably strengthened Princeton's faculty. He once rescued from a pond a woman who had fallen directly onto an alligator; the beast, Bowen observed, was 'probably as scared as she was—but it seemed something you didn't leave up to the alligator.'"

Also on the list, and right next to President Bowen, is Princeton alumnus Bill Bradley, the basketball player; Charles Gwathmey, an innovator in the design of high-density, low-cost housing, who is better known in Princeton for his design of the Whig Hall reconstruction; and Marina von Neumann Whitman, first woman member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers and the daughter of John von Neumann, the late Princeton mathematician and developer of the computer.

If your name is not on the list and you think it should be, Time apologizes. "Any list maker runs the risk that some of his choices may prove to be eccentric and some of his ommissions unforgivable. But that seems a risk worth-taking if it helps start a debate about who the future leaders are and what leadership really means."

To Vote on CBD

In a special public meeting scheduled for next Wednesday, July 17, the Princeton Regional Planning Board will vote on its Central Business District plans. The meeting will be held in Borough Hall at 9 p.m., an hour later than most Planning Board sessions.

Public hearing on the plan was held June 27, and there will be no further public hearings. The board has been discussing comments made at the hearing, but next Wednesday's meeting is to vote on adopting the plan, not to hear additional public comment.

school board is going to have to spend a large amount of money just to repair the damage, while the question of renovation remains unsolved.

Much of the school--the main office, library, faculty office, chemistry lab, cafeteria and wood shop--was a sorry mess. Doors to these rooms were either pried open with a heavy screw driver or had their windows broken out. The vandalism was reported at 8:30 Sunday morning by custodian Wilbert Brooks.

Police said that apparently the intruders entered through the rear side, worked their way up to the front office and left by the front door.

All the desks in the main office, police said, were forced open and ransacked. Filing cabinets were pried open. A microphone was ripped off from its inter-office communication system. Papers from desks and cabinets were strewn about.

In the library several desks were broken into and their contents removed; the office and coffee lounge next to the library used by the faculty was entered by breaking the 24-inch window and desks were pried open.

Boxes of supplies in the chem lab were opened and their contents scattered. A cylinder of hydrogen is believed to have been taken and Harry Zoll, chemistry instructor, has been requested to take an inventory of gases and chemicals.

Two drink vending machines in the cafeteria were ruined by having their door ripped off and there was considerable vandalism in the wood shop.

The police investigation is being continued by Det. Timothy Huizing.

FIRE HITS BIO LAB

Damages Limited. A fire last Friday evening in Princeton University's Moffet Biology Laboratory caused extensive damage to a fourth floor laboratory room and also resulted in smoke and water damage throughout 30 percent of the building. The damage appeared reparable, however, and indications were that the experiments and research material were unharmed.

"Many of our people are away for the summer and it is possible that we will find out later that a man's entire life's work has been destroyed. But so far it looks pretty good," said John H. Fenton, director of the University's News Bureau.

Jacques R. Fresco, professor of biochemical sciences and director of the biochemistry program, estimated damage to the building at between $50,000 and $100,000. The fire damage was confined to Room M-24 and its furnishings, but firemen reported that water trickled down to the first floor of the building, which is located off Washington Road, opposite the math-physics tower.

You Were Expecting...?

A Princeton woman was waiting for the elevator at 20 Nassau Street one evening last week and when the elevator door opened, a man inside exposed himself to her.

"Oh, I thought you were someone else," he said, according to the police, and ran down the first floor stairs toward the basement. The woman, even more startled, ran out of the building down to the taxi stand on Nassau Street where she called police. Ptl. Ronald Holliday investigated.

All Princeton fire companies responded to the general alarm that was sounded at 7:36. Because the building contains small amounts of radioactive materials for use in experiments, all firemen and other persons in the laboratory were administered "nose wipes" after the blaze was extinguished, at about 0:30.

The precautionary measure required that the men blow their nose into a tissue, which was then sealed in an envelope. The tissue was then tested at a University laboratory, and all tests showed negative.

Two Firemen Treated. The fire started when a research assistant, Mrs. Wen-Fen Chang, who was working with animal tissues, knocked over a beaker of alcohol used for sterilizing instruments. The alcohol apparently came in contact with a burner and ignited.

Following the fire two volunteers were treated at Princeton Medical Center. Jeff Grover, 22, of 33 Chestnut Street, a member of Engine Company No. 3, suffered a bruised right elbow. Randy Glass, 19, of 45 Hawthorne Avenue, of the Hook and Ladder Company, sprained his ankle while racing to his car in the Bamberger parking lot. He proceeded to the fire, helped fight the blaze, and then showed up at the hospital for treatment.

The many laboratory animals kept in Moffett for experimental purposes, including rabbits and gerbils, were unharmed. They are kept in the basement.

ROOMING HOUSE SITE

Of Separate Thefts. Borough police report two separate thefts last week in a rooming house at 184 Witherspoon Street.

Taken from the room of Alon Gochberg between 7:30 and 11:45 p.m. Friday were a stereo receiver, two speakers, a portable television set and eight quarters. Total value: $277. Police said the door to his room had been forced open.

Earlier in the week, Ms. Cherilyn Barbour had her $12 purse containing about $1 in change taken from a door knob where it was hanging.

She told police that she had just turned out her light and gone to bed when someone opened her unlocked door, reached in and grabbed the purse. Police added that Ms. Barbour also told them that she had noticed someone standing outside her window watching her undress and had probably seen the handbag on the doorknob. It didn't frighten her, she continued, because there were bars over her window.

Her purse was later recovered in a rear yard at 334 Lytle Street.

Other Thefts. Eileen Loar, Lambert House, Princeton Medical Center, lost her shoulderbag containing $10 when she left it on the lawn next to the Community Park pool to go to the locker room. When she returned the purse was missing. She valued the purse and wallet at $5 each.

Mrs. Lenore Barish, 132 Balcourt Drive, reported the theft last week of a $30 mailbox from a post in front of her home. Police report that previously a name plate had been stolen which was later found on Shady Brook Lane. Ptl. William Potts investigated.

Samuel Myer, 947 Lawrenceville Road, listed the theft of a 9-inch portable TV set from a rear bedroom following a party at his home. It was valued at $100.

Mrs. Hazel Davis, 150 Witherspoon Street, told Borough police that her $140 social security check had been stolen last Wednesday between 3:30 and 4 p.m. from her mailbox.

On Saturday, she called again to report that the check had been returned to her mailbox. The envelope, which had been opened, police said, was brought to headquarters to be checked for fingerprints.

Jewelry Stolen from Store. A collection of silver and pewter rings, necklaces, earrings and bracelets with a combined value of $304 was stolen from a display window at Norwegian Beauty and Wig Manor, 180 Nassau Street between 6 Wednesday evening and 7 Thursday morning.

Police said that a 14 by 18-inch pane of glass had been broken to reach the jewelry. Sgt. Thomas Michaud investigated.

Two cars parked in the PSI lot next to the Princeton Playhouse were entered last week.

One dollar was taken from a ransacked glove compartment of a car owned by Arline Cohan of Brooklyn, and $5 and a Timex watch from a car owned by Mrs. Henry Douglas of Saddle River. A vent window was forced in each theft, police said.

SHOPLIFTERS FINED

In Township Court. Three shoplifters were fined last week by Judge Philip Carchman in Township court.

Rita Lachwicz, 151 Hamilton Avenue, was fined $110. Gregory McWhite and Debra A. Middleton, both of Trenton, were each fined $110 and sentenced to 10 days in Mercer County Jail. McWhite was charged with shoplifting, Miss Middleton with aiding and abetting. All three pleaded guilty.

Nancy Damron, 38 Adams Drive, was fined $25 for using offensive language.

In traffic court, Fiorina Ucci, 39 Moran Avenue, and Ilene S. Russinoff, Heather Lane, each paid $20 for careless driving. Both pleaded not guilty.

Michael D. Meservey, 72 Dorann Avenue, was fined $20 for failing to keep right.

Borough Court. In Borough criminal court last week, Edward G. Fitzell, 19, 46 Ridgeview Road, and David B. McNamara, 19, 55 Marion Road W., were referred to the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office for further action by Judge Carchman after pleading not guilty to possession of a stolen car.

James C. Attenborough, 22, 779 Princeton-Kingston Road, was fined $25 each on two charges of trespassing. To a third charge of being drunk and disorderly, he pleaded not guilty, was fined $35 and sentenced to five days in jail. The jail sentence was suspended.

In Borough traffic court, McCray Bussey, Northgate Apartments, Cranbury, was fined $15 for speeding.

MAN IS ARRESTED

In 90 cent Shoplifting. Richard Spielman, 33, of 18 Bank Street, was arrested last week for allegedly shoplifting a package of sliced cheese and a quarter pound of butter from Davidson's Market on Nassau Street.

Police said that two store employees followed the suspect to Washington Road and brought him back to the store. He had hidden the articles under his shirt, police said. He was arrested by Ptl. William Fitch and later issued a complaint summons.

Girl, 15, Charged. Township police have charged a 15-year old Belle Mead girl with shoplifting after she allegedly concealed a halter top and shirt valued at $24 in her handbag. She was observed by Patricia McNaughton, security officer at Bamberger's in the Princeton Shopping Center.

After being processed by Twp. Juvenile Officer Anthony Pinetli, the juvenile was released to the custody of her father.

FIVE ARE ARRESTED

At Woodrow Wilson Pool. An 18-year old Township youth and four juveniles were arrested Monday night shortly after ten at the pool next to the Woodrow Wilson Building on Washington Road.

According to Borough police, a university proctor smelled marijuana smoke and asked, "Who's got the pot?" "We do," the five allegedly replied.

Charles I. Robertson, 466 Mount Lucas Road, was charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance. The juveniles, a 16-year old Borough youth and three from the Township, ages 16 and 17, were released to their parents after being charged with trespassing.

BIKE IS STOLEN

Owner Buys It Back. Two Princeton men have been charged with the theft of a bicycle last week after they allegedly sold it back to the owner.

James Miller, 21, and Larry Miller, 19, both of 7 Lytle Street, have been charged with larceny and possession of stolen property. James is free on $150 bail and Larry on $50 bail, pending their appearance in court July 17.

Capt. Theodore Lewis explained that bail for James was higher after police also charged him with possession of a stolen gasoline credit card which he used to obtain $12.55 in gas from the Exxon Station on Nassau Street. He is also charged with use of the card without the owner's consent.

According to police, Mrs. Ann E. Clarke, 22 Witherspoon Lane, called at 1:45 Friday afternoon to say that two young men were trying to steal bicycles from in front of her home. Her husband was in pursuit of one who had ridden off with her $150 bicycle. The two had failed to free a second bike from a chain.

Saturday morning, Mrs. Clarke came to headquarters to tell police that she had bought her bicycle back for $75 but that she could identify the two who took it. Police showed her mug shots and she picked out the two Miller youths.

HOPEWELL MAN DROWNS

In Pemberton Lake. Edward Andrews, 24, of Route 518 Spur, Hopewell, died July 4 in a drowning accident at Pemberton Lake. He was employed by Gallup and Robinson in Princeton.

Born in Alabama, Mr. Andrews had lived in Hopewell since 1969. He was previously employed by the New Jersey Neuropsychiatric Institute in Skillman.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Bornner of Alabama; and seven brothers and sisters, all of Alabama.

A memorial service was held at the Hopewell Presbyterian Church. Interment was in Alabama.

EXTENSION SOUGHT

By Yedlin Public Housing. A one-month extension of variances for the moribund 100-unit public housing project proposed for Mt. Lucas Road, was granted Monday night at a special Township Committee meeting.

Thomas C. Jamieson Jr., attorney for Benedict Yedlin, who hopes to build the project, asked for a one-year extension; however, there was some uncertainty over who should give the extension, Committee or the Township Zoning Board. Last July, when Mr. Jamieson asked for an extension, both bodies agreed to the request. On Monday, Committee told Mr. Jamieson to apply to the Zoning Board also. It meets again July 24.

Although Mr. Yedlin's option to buy the property ran out, Mr. Jamieson told Committee that negotiations with the owners are still in progress.

HOME ENTERED MONDAY

On University Place. The home of the Rev. Timothy B. Cogan, 53 University Place, was entered between 2:30 and 4:30 Monday afternoon.

Police said that the thief took a wallet from a pocketbook hanging from a hook in the hallway and a jewelry box from an upstairs bedroom. A rear door was left unlocked, police said.

In the Township, the home of Clifford L. Graf, 240 Riverside Drive, was entered and ransacked last week but police have been unable as yet to determine what is mssing.

A rear door was pried to get inside, police report. Det. Frank Boccanfuso and Ptl. Mario Musso are investigating.

DALLAS WOMAN FINED

For Drug Possession. Marguerite D. Avella, 27, of Dallas, Texas was fined $60 last week in Borough court for possession of a controlled dangerous substance.

She was arrested early last week by Sgt. Ralph Procaccino and Ptl. David Lewis investigating a report of a car blocking a driveway at 17 Chestnut Street. The officers allegedly saw a marijuana butt in the car's ash tray when Ms. Avella arrived and admitted it was hers. She told police a friend had given it to her.

She was placed under arrest by police who later reported they discovered a plastic bag containing more marijuana in Ms. Avella's purse.

LOOTERS ARE NABBED

On Nassau Street. A couple who looted a Princeton Motor Lodge room of two pillows, a toilet seat, a lamp and two wastebaskets, were apprehended on Nassau Street last week after police officers, alerted to the theft, "clearly saw" the stolen items in their car.

John M. Kiballo, 22, of Bound Brook and Antoinette J. Bohonowsky, 22, of Manville have been charged with possession of stolen property under $200 and Miss Bohonowsky with possession of controlled dangerous substances—prescription drugs such as Darvan and Librium not in their originial containers.

They were released on $200 bail and turned over to the West Windsor police. A Borough court appearance has been scheduled for July 17.

The arresting officers were Det. Arthur Gallant and Ptl. David Alston. The Motor Lodge on Route 1 had notified West Windsor police of the theft.

Delicious Summer Theatre at Intime's "Arms and the Man"

WRONG MAN: John Vennema plays the stuffy fiance of Anne Louise Hoffman in Summer Intime's sprightly presentation of Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man," due for another week-end of performances at Murray Theatre. (Roy Blanchard Photo)

Gond theatre is still the most exciting nf the arts. That kind of excitement permeated the npening night of Summer Intime's seventh season on July 4.

Playing to a packed audience in Murray Theatre (a sell-out on opening night—unheard of!) George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" proved to be comedy at its brightest. Director, actors and authnr have created a solid hit.

"Arms and the Man" is one of Shaw's funniest plays and also one of his least didactic. Satirizing romantic ideas of war and the pretenses of romantic love finds ready acceptance today, more so than in Queen Victoria's settled days; and Shaw's mockery of social snobbery hardly hurts even those it should, for social climbers of the 1880's in Bulgaria seem comfortably distant from us. The most serious argumentation in the play concerns the attitude of servants and masters to each other; most modern theatre-goers find the concept of "servants" almost as quaint as the idea of daily washing was to the Petkoffs.

But the play alone, I suspect, does not account for the rush of public to the box office on opening night. This Summer Intime company already has a reputation for excellence. Most members have acted together for several seasons, and the majority comprised the nucleus of last summer's Princeton Theatre Company based at Rider College. The promise of seeing old friends and old favorites on the stage was the best kind of publicity.

Needless to say, with this production of "Arms and the Man" Summer Intime adds lustre to its reputation.

At the heart of the current success must stand Daniel F. Berkowitz, Executive Director of Summer Intime and director of "Arms and the Man." Having done well by Shakespeare with his "Twelfth Night" and "Measure for Measure" within the past year, he does more than well with Shaw. The production bubbles with humor and vitality. The actors, notable in their individual parts, play together as a real ensemble.

And the actors are a joy. I list their names not to criticize but to relish again the memory of their performance. Anne Louise Hoffman, with her impish face and loveliest diction, is enchanting as Raina, and her changeovers between artificial passion and girlish naturalness are delightful. As Sergius, her "artificial" lover, John C. Vennema extracts all the fun there is in an actor's dream part with his solemn posturing.

By contrast, E.E. Norris is direct and appealing as the practical soldier, Bluntschli. He builds naturally to his not unexpected triumph at the end. (If I may be allowed one cavil among so many good things, it seems to me that a soldier as efficiently concerned with saving his own life would lower his voice when hiding out in a bedroom in a hostile neighborhood.) Richard Ferrugio and Alice White are excellent as the elder Petkoffs, he with his good-natured recognition that he is second-rate in the family as well as in the army, and she with her habit of natural, though sometimes frustrated, command.

Kimberly Myers, as the maid Louka, exemplifies both the will and the way for a servant to rise above her station, from her defiant cigarette-smoking (remember this is 1886) to her velvet-clawed conquest of the amorous Sergius. As Nicola, the "square" servant and, except for Bluntschli, the man most likely to succeed in life, Robert Schmon Jr., wisely avoids histrionics and keeps the character on a genuine low key. Mitchell Ivers contributes a stylishly amusing bit as a Russian officer.

The glowing costumes by Marie Miller and Gretchen Bullock and the pleasantly serviceable settings by Charles G. Stone II and John K. Paine are an integral part of the complete satisfaction the play gives to its audience.

"Arms and the Man" continues at Murray Theatre on July 11, 12, 13, and 14. I strongly urge a trip to the theatre before it is too late.

ON THE SCREEN.....

Oldies. "The Smallest Show on Earth," a 1957 British film comedy, will be shown Monday as the next in Summer Intime's film series. Films are shown at 7:30 p.m. in McCormick Art Museum, behind Murray Theatre on the University campus.

In this comedy, Bill Travers and Virginia McKenna are the owners of a run-down movie theatre in England. Peter Sellers and Margaret Rutherford are the custodians of the theatre.

Next Tuesday, Intime will show "The Beggar's Opera," the first film directed by Peter Brook, of "Marat Sade," "Lord of the Flies" and so on. Sir Laurence Olivier stars as Macheath, and Hugh Griffith, Stanley Holloway and Dorothy Tutin also appear. Christopher Fry did the adaptation from John Gay's play.

THIRD CONCERT SET

In Outdoor Series. The third in the Princeton University Summer Chamber Concert Seires will take place on Wednesday, July 17 with a performance by classical guitarist Michael Newman.

Mr. Newman, who is 16 years old and lives in Flemington, made his New York debut at Carnegie Recital Hall in March of this year. A rave review from New York Times critic Donald Henahan said of Michael Newman's performance "...extraordinary talent... immediately established himself as an artist to be reckoned with..a formidable technique throughout."

Mr. Newman, whose musical repertoire ranges through the centuries, is a student of Albert Valdes Blaine - a protege of Andres Segovia.

These outdoor concerts are open to the public without charge - and without seating, so bring something to sit on. The performances start at 8:30 p.m. and are held in the North Court of the Graduate College. Parking is off Springdale Road. In the event of rain, the concert will be held in Proctor Hall at the Graduate College.

EVENING PLANNED

For Scottish Poetry, Music. An evenings of Scottish poetry and folk music will be presented in the Chapin School auditorium, Friday, at 8:15 p.m.

Three young Scots, Lesley Henderson from Glasgow, Bill Stokoe from Carlysle and Aberdeen, and Alastair Macmillan from Aberdeen, will present a program called "Thochts and Cantrips" (Thoughts and Enchantments) which contains songs and amusing dialogues but is mainly a showcase of the Scottish literary tradition starting with the Court Makers of James I through Robert Burns, Robert Louis Stevenson, Sir Walter Scott, Edwin Muir, and Scottish writers of today.

The entertainers have planned their 7-week stay in America to include visits to Philadelphia, Cincinnati where they will perform for the Caledonian Society's annual program, Rhode Island, Brimingham, Alabama, New Orleans, and California.

This is their second trip to this country, the first two years ago as students sponsored by the English Speaking Union of Scotland and the U.S., and they will be staying with the same families they visited at that time.

FAUST

At Artists Showcase. A classic of opera literature, Charles Gonoud's Faust, will be presented for the first time at Artists Showcase Theatre, 1150 Indiana Avenue in Trenton, on Saturday, July 13, 20, and 27 at 8:30. The opera will be sung in English with authentic costumes and artistic sets.

WORLD WIDE SELECTION

At Studio 12, "We buy what we consider good design and we tead towards the contemporary." This has been owner Richard Carlson's selection policy for Studio 12 since its opening seven years ago.

Mr. Carlson told us that during the "last few years most good contemporary has come from Denmark and Finland so quite naturally the store has a Scandinavian flair or flavor." However, he allows the piece of merchandise itself, rather than its place of origin, to dictate whether or not he will include it in his shop, and the selection is virtually world wide.

Well-known for its excellent display of contemporary sterling jewelry from Scandinavia, Studio 12 also designs and makes some of the pieces itself. Pendants are popular and some of Mr. Carlson's include small semi-precious stones on sterling discs, a lovely blue sodalite heart on a twisted chain, and one with a round tiger eye in matrix, $15 to $60.

There are also sterling braceiets, rings and earrings; contemporary gold jewelry that includes a set of birthstone rings and custom wedding and engagement rings; and strings of pearls in every conceivable length.

Tankards and Mugs. Representing the store's policy of good design regardless of origin we saw handsome tankards and soup mugs from Japan. This pottery has been glazed in natural tones and has oriental floral patterns, four for $12.50.

From England there are Minton ashtrays, vases and cachepots with a pretty floral design; and Royal Doulton figurines and Toby mugs, full of persnaality. We especially liked the colorful old fisherman raug with a fish for a handle, $18.95.

In the Princetoa area it would he difficult to find a larger selection of pewter. The five different coffee services by Royal Holland only begin to tell the story. There is also a range of accessory pieces such as goblets, candleholders, vases, porringers, water pitchers, and a beautiful dinner plate.

Possibly our favorite collection is the colorful Baca and Tenera faiences produced by the Royal Copenhagen Porcelain Company. Mr. Carlson described these decorative ceramics as "art you can use."

Among the small boxes, square flat dishes, bowls, cups, and vases we especially noticed a celery dish decorated with a blue aad purple bird desiga, $33, and a set of small cups with blue stylized apples, $9.50 each. The designs are enchanting, and yet retain an uncluttered contemporary look.

Royal Copenhagen. The traditional well-loved Royal Copenhagea figurines are here too. We saw tiny robins, a handsome tiger, a baby playing on its stomach, and the famous "Kiss" figurine.

Another knock-out collection is the littala crystal from Finland. Much of this crystal is textured and many of the designs quite unusual, such as a slender pitcher without a handle and a series of candlesticks varying in height depending upon the number of balls stacked one on the other. These would be especially attractive in a group.

Studio 12 is a spacious store with an upstairs gallery overlooking the main floor, and it is here that a future bride could spend hours. We saw dinnerware by Arabia of Finland, Rorstrand of Sweden, Orzberg and Thomas both of Germany, Minton and Royal Doulton. Mr. Carlson particularly pointed out the Royal Doulton china which he feels has many lovely patterns with a transitioaal look between the traditional and contemporary and the price is incredibly reasonable, from $19.95 for a five-piece place setting.

We also saw a range of crystal other than Iittala, including Orrefors, Boda, Kosta and Royal Doulton; and many stainless flatware patterns including those by Lauffer.

Copper Cookware. Another section of the store is devoted to teak and stainless trays, escarot dishes, chips and dips or whatever you're looking for—once again the selection is huge.

Cookware is here too--the finest stainless steel lined copper by Spring. Most copper cookware has a tin lining which wears and can melt if it is overheated. These pots are expensive, $37 for a small fry pan, but they are gorgeous, last forever, and come in a variety of sizes such as crepes and au gratins.

Throughout the store there is quite a bit of original art such as graphics, antique engravings and some contemporary wall pieces. In addition there is a large collection of Bill Clark's hand thrown pottery which includes plates, bowls, jugs and vases.

The good design concept carries over into many miscellaneous areas. For instance, there is a magnificient copper weathervane hand-hammered from the old molds. The E. G. Washburne Company has been keeping their nearly lost art alive, and the particular weathervane at Studio 12 features a galloping horse above the usual points of the compass, $360.

Mr. Carlson has also selected Curoc trays for his shop and has one of his own design--what else but a tiger wearing an orange and black scarf.

Almost all the Crane stationery patterns are here including the new quartered oak. There is formal paper, amusing notepaper and now Crane has its own fold-n-seal notes. Studio 12 has its own printing facilities so any of the paper can he engraved or you can design your own special notes or invitations.

Located at the Montgomery Shopping Center, Studin 12 is open Monday through Saturday from 10 until 6, and Thursday and Friday evenings until 9.

PLAYHOUSE

The Conversation: A timely and excellent thriller by Francis Ford Coppola centering on a professional evesdropper who becomes irrevocably involved in an assignment after a lifetime of moral detachment.

In addition to a thriller with a nerve shattering climax. Conversation is a ruthless study about "responsibility" in these Watergate times. Gene Hackman gives one of his best performances as the conflict-torn surveillance expert, whose disjointed scruples make stealing a newspaper more of a sin than gathering information that indirectly leads to several murders, caught in a sudden crisis of conscience.

Ostensibly hired on a matter of marital infidelity, Hackman gradually realizes that a murder is linked to the tapes he has collected. Suddenly racked by guilt and unable to remain passive, Hackman, who has a reputation as the top tapper in his field, pieces his information together and winds up bugging the indicted murderer. Except there is a shattering climatic twist--reminiscent of classic Hitchcock--that the victim is not the one whom Hackman logically assumed.

Much of the film's power--and it is a gripping film--stems from Hackman's beautifully complex understated performance. Other fine performances come from Allen Garfield as Hackman's closest competitor; Elizabeth MacRae as a floozy who seduces Hackman, and Teri Garr as a mistress kept in the dark.

With an unflashy visual sense and controlled weaving of charcter and action, Coppola has succeeded in evoking a haunting vision of Kafkaesque menace.

BRUNSWICK

The Exorcist. The long-awaited area showing of The Exorcist, based on the William Blatty best-selling novel about the bizarre Satanic possession of a young girl, opens this week at the Brunswick Theater.

The graphic horrors and meticulous depiction of the little girl's possession and the exorcism sequence that frees her is definitely not for the faint-of-heart or weak-of-stomach. It can be, for some, a mind-blowing experience. Definitely not for children. The film is rated R.

Blatty's story is based on an actual 1949 case of a 14-year old boy whose bizarre changes in personality disappeared after multiple performances of the Catholic ritual of exorcism.

The film horrors begin when a 12-year-old girl--stunningly portrayed by Linda Blair--interrupts her mother's cocktail party, curses a priest and urinates on the carpet. From there, her possession intensifies. Her voice takes on the voice of a man, the language and personality of the Devil, the barks and groans of an animal.

She lashes at the young Jesuit psychiatrist-priest with green vomit and shouts blasphemous crudities. In another gruesome scene, she masturbates with a crucifix. Finally, the child is released but only after the death of the two priests.

Still, in spite of the horrors, the film contains less visceral emotional moments of great power and conviction. Technically, "The Exorcist" is unerringly superb and the acting is faultless. Ellen Burstyn as the child's mother vainly trying to maintain her sanity under the bizarre happenings is outstanding, as is Jason Miller as the Jesuit priest and Max von Sydow as the older priest executive plan and for the manager plan because, she said, it provided a greater amount of professionalism.

NEXT YEAR'S PICNIC: Across Route 206 from the swimming pool is undeveloped land that may be the site of your 1975 Fourth of July picnic, if Federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation money is forthcoming. Plans call for a lake and pond, a 250-seat amphitheatre sound-screened from the highway by a hill of transplanted pines, natural trails through a "Greenway," a cleared play area and a place to picnic. In this sketch, the cross-hatched line is the stream, solid lines are trails.

Nancy Schluter of Pennington, vice-chairman of the Commission, said that she, too preferred the manager plan, but she voted for the elected-executive form to support the majority of the Commission.

The Commission by a 7-2 vote, agreed not to recommend a change in the present system of at-large election of county Freeholders. Mrs. McGrath and Mrs. Schluter both voted against the Commission's recommendation. They prefer election of Freeholders from county districts, as well as from the country at large.

Voting unanimously, the Commission agreed to recommend keeping the Board of Chosen Freeholders at its present seven-member level.

A full report is scheduled for release August 6. Voters will decide in November whether to adopt the Commission's recommendations.

PAINTINGS ON VIEW

At Public Library. Paintings by children, done in the Chinese style, are currently on exhibit in the Children's Room of the Princeton Public Library. The 12 young artists, whose ages range from 6 to 13, are students of I-Hsn Chiang, Princeton artist and art historian.

Mr. Chiang, who has taught brush painting at Princeton Adult School, Princeton Art Association, the Princeton YWCA, and Rutgers University, teaches the children Chinese style and technique; the subjects they choose to paint, however, are not limited to the classics.

Of the paintings in this exhibition, most are of natural subjects—flowers, fruit, and animals; but the viewpoint of the artists varies from traditional stylized bamboo and plum blossoms to a thoroughly Western bullfight scene complete with helicopter.

Ring Swallower Sentenced

It was almost a year ago—July 26—when John F. Miller, 20, of Lytle Street, walked into LaVake Jewelers on Nassau Street and asked to see a tray of expensive diamond rings.

He grabbed a $920 ring, swallowed it and was arrested in the store after the startled manager, Philip Porado, who had showed him the ring, called police. After X-rays revealed the ring in Miller's stomach, he was taken to Mercer County Jail but the ring, which was insured, was never recovered. Police said they believed it was flushed into Trenton's sewer system.

Last week, Miller was sentenced to an indeterminate term not to exceed five years in the Yardville Youth Reception Center for the theft and for attempted escape. During his arraignment in Trenton, Miller had tried to jump out of a second story window at the courthouse.

developed by the YWCA as an aid to women in the repair of their physical and emotional strength following a mastectomy. One woman in fifteen will have breast cancer requiring a mastectomy during her lifetime statistics show. Initiated in 1972, Encore is offered free of charge to all women in the area. Membership in the YWCA is not required.

The grant will be used to support the training of thirty "Encore" instructors chosen geographically from YWCAs throughout the United States to participate in the controlled pilot program. Results of each new area pilot program will be studied by a review committee of experts from throughout the United States

Helen Glines Kohut, founder of the program, is a former public health nurse, and has served for the past nine years as ballet and physical fitness instructor in the Princeton YWCA. She herself has had a mastectomy. Mrs. Kohut began the program in an effort to help other women trying to regain their physical and emotional well-being after a mastectomy.

Mrs. Kohut reports that many women find encouragement in sharing common efforts to rebuild stamina and flexibility following mastectomy surgery. The opportunity for interchange of ideas and experiences each week is an important part of the program for many participants, and the types of prostheses and their use are freely discussed.

WATCH THE SKY

At Museum Planetarium. Indoor planetarium shows, outdoor sunwatching and stargazing, special programs for youngsters and a lecture series for astronomy buffs will be offered free during July and August by the staff of the New Jersey State Museum Planetarium in Trenton.

"Kaleidoscope of Stars," an examination of the giant, dwarf, red, white, orange and other star-types present in our heavens in almost infinite variety, will be featured in the Planetarium. Shows are scheduled for 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. weekdays and at 2, 3 and 4 p.m. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. Children under seven will not be admitted.

Sunwatching outside the rear Planetarium entrance is planned for 2 p.m. Monday through Friday, weather permitting. There is no age limitation.

Outdoor stargazing sessions will be conducted at the Washington Crossing (N.J.) State Park Nature Center from 10 to 11:30 p.m. on eight successive Fridays beginning this Friday. If weather conditions make it impossible to observe the summer sky, observers will move inside for a slide-illustrated lecture on astronomy.

Although ytoungsters under seven years old are excluded from regular Planetarium programs, they will have a show designed especially for them at 10 a.m. each Friday morning starting this Friday.

The lecture series for astronomy buffs is set for 3 p.m. on three successive Thursdays beginning July 18. Titles for the three lectures are "Forming Stars," "Skies Around the World" and "Meteors, Bolides and Meteor Showers."

The State Museum is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sundays.

Correction

Last month, in reporting an accident at Alexander Street and College Road West, Town Topics stated incorrectly that one of the drivers, Mrs. Lois Hector of Hamilton Square was issued a summons for failing to stop. The other driver was issued the summons.

FUND NAMES MARTIN

New Executive Director. The Fund for Theological Education Inc., announced the appointment of W. Robert Martin Jr., of 255 State Road, as Executive Director, effective August 1. He will replace the Rev. C. Shelby Rooks, who has resigned to become President of Chicago Theological Seminary. Mr. Martin had served as Associate Director of the Fund since September 1967.

A native of Greenville, Mississippi, Robert Martin is a graduate of Davidson College and Union Theological Seminary, Virginia, and was awarded an honorary Bachelor of Divinity degree by the Faculte de Theologie, Montpelier, France. After a year as Senior Assistant Minister of St. Cuthbert's Parish Church, Edinburgh, Scotland, he returned to Union as Assistant to the President in 1961, becoming Dean of Students in 1963.

During this period he was Founding Minister of Three Chopt Presbyterian Church in Richmond. Founder and Director of the American Summer Institute at St. Andrews University, Scotland, Mr. Martin is Chairman of the Academic Affairs Committee of Union's Board of Trustees.

The Fund for Theological Education, based at 1101 State Road, has for nearly 20 years provided financial assistance for persons preparing for or engaged in the Protestant ministry. Supported consistently by the American Association of Theological Schools, it derives its major financial assistance from the Rockefeller Brothers Fund and the Seafantic Fund, with major grants from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation and The Board of Theological Education of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

BANK ROBBER CAUGHT

By West Windsor Police. A Trenton man remains in Mercer County Jail in lieu of $25,000 bail after he was arrested last week by West Windsor police just a short time after he held up the West Windsor Branch of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company on Old Trenton Road and escaped with $20,000.

Bail for the sospect, Danny A. Sailor, 24, was set last Wednesday by Superior Court Judge A. Jerome Moore. He has beeo charged with robbery, robbery while armed and possession of stolen money. A preliminary hearing for Sailor was held last Toesday evening the same day as the theft before West Windsor Judge William Bunting.

Sailor was arrested by Ptl. Richard Comfort as he was fleeing from the scene on his brother's 10-speed bicycle. The key to the quick arrest, according to Lt. Frank Cox, was off-duty Ptl. Gary Watlingtoo who was jogging in nearby Mercer County Park when he saw Ptl. Comfort searching for the suspect on Old Trenton Road.

When Ptl. Watlington heard the suspect's description -- bare chested, black, wearing a cap and trousers and carrying a blue, zippered denim shoulder bag -- he told police that he had seen him riding on a bicycle heading toward Mercerville. His arrest near Mercer County Community College by Ptl Comfort, assisted by Sgt. Clifford Maurer and Ptl. Edward Foran, followed.

According to police, Sailor entered the branch office around 1:20. Two women employees were in the bank at the time. One, whom police said was pregnant, was in a rest room which she never left during the holdup.

The other employee emptied her cash drawer, the one next to her and took more money from a bank vault and handed it over to the robber. Lt. Cox reported that bank officials told them that the suspect was carrying a pistol but police in their searching have been unable to find the weapon.

When he was arrested, Sailor had the blue pouch slung over his shoulder with the bank's money inside. He had also been seen by Chief Francis Maguire before the holdup.

Chief Maguire was driving to headquarters when he saw Sailor on foot at the intersection of Old Trenton Road and Edinburg Road. He made a mental note of the bare-chested man and when he heard the desk man taking the bank robber's description as he entered the station, he realized it fit the man he had just seen. Thinking the suspect may have fled in a car, Chief Maguire and Lt. Cox radioed an alert. The bike ruse may have worked, too, had it not been for the keen observatioo of Ptl. Watlington.

Rouse Mall or Maul? Hopewell Citizens Wonder

A proposed regional shopping center planned for a 168-acre site on Route 31 at the intersection of I-95 is being opposed by a group of Hopewell Valley citizens who have dubbed the project the "Rouse Maul." The Rouse Company of Columbia, Maryland, is the builder proposing construction of the mall.

The opponents, who call themselves the Regional Shopping Center Concerned Citizens of Hopewell Valley, have run newspaper advertisements publicizing the reasons for their opposition to the mall. They are now seeking additional support from citizens at this Thursday's meeting of the Hopewell Township Planning Board, and at the meeting July 18 and the public hearing on Thursday, July 25. The public hearing is at 7:30 in Hopewell Valley Central High School.

In its advertisemeot the group said: "Last November you voted--2,297 to 1,570--against the construction of the Rouse Mall. You were concerned, and rightly so, that the mall might radically alter the quality of life in Hopewell Valley."

"But the referendum was non-binding," the ad continued, "the Rouse company--which had piously claimed it would heed the wishes of the public--chose to ignore the people of Hopwell Valley. The mall will be built. .UNLESS YOU STOP IT."

The Rouse company, builder of several other malls in New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania, has indicated that the mall would be built in three phases. The first would be anchored by two major stores, Sears and Strawbridge & Clothier, along with 50 smaller stores.

Reality of Fantasia? In a meeting with Township officials last month the company said the mall would provide 1,500 jobs for local people and generate $500,000 in tax revenues. The Concerned Citizens in a statement said Rouse's "sales pitch. . .made the proposed center sound like the Disneyland of the East." The statement said it was like "a literal Fantasia by the people and for the people."

The citizens group said that if this mall, plus the other two proposed for Route 1, are constructed, they will saturate the Mercer County market. The citizens' statement warned that "Trenton should keep in mind that Rouse admits now that the Cherry Hill Mall was a least partly responsible for the demise of Camden."

"There is reason to hope," the statement continued. "If the Township Planning Board can hold firm in demanding compliance with state requirements for sewage disposal plants and environmental impact studies, Rouse has a problem.

"If the Zoning Board simply decides to rezone the area in light of the now known ecological problems caused by such malls, Rouse has a problem. If the City of Trenton realizes that it is committing economic suicide, and refuses to give Rouse water, then Rouse has a big problem."

"If every interested citizen comes to the public hearing at Central High School. . .and speaks up," the statement concludes, "Rouse indeed has a problem."

TUITION AID PROPOSED

As Tax-Deductible. An amendment to make tuition costs for higher education tax-deductible under Governor Brendan Byrne's income tax plan has been proposed by State Senator Anne C. Martindell.

"The chief beneficiaries of this program would be middle-income families," according to Mrs. Martindell. "Students from these families often are not able to obtain scholarships and so the students or their families must pay a large percentage of their income for tuition," Mrs. Martindell pointed out.

"The Byrne plan has been criticized for not providing the middle-income person with tax relief. This amendment would be a significant step in that direction," she said.

Under the proposal, the full cost of tuition and books would be deductible from the income of the person who paid tuition to any post-secondary educational institution.

"In addition to providing tax relief to many middle-income families, the amendment would enable many young persons to obtain an education they might otherwise be unable to pay for. Finally, the amendment will help our schools and colleges by encouraging enrollment," Mrs. Martindell said.

In a letter to Assemblyman Steven Perskie, the Chairman of the Assembly Taxation Committee, Mrs. Martindell asked the Committee to sponsor the amendment. If the Assembly passed an income tax proposal without the proposed amendment, Mrs. Martindell said she would propose the amendment in the Senate.

"YES" TO CHURCHES

From Planning Board. Two religious organizations received Planning Board approval for new and expanded activities, in action taken by the board at its July meeting last week.

The board voted to send on to the Borough Zoning Board a "favorable recommendation" for granting a conditional use variance to the Jewish Center on Nassau Street. The Center has purchased the Tax Institute building next door and wants to use it for Center events. Site plans providing 30 parking spaces, were also approved.

In a similar case, Christ Congregation church on Walnut and Houghton, received site plan approval and the "favorable recommendation" nod to the Borough Zoning Board for its plans to incorporate a nursery school into its church building.

The Planning Board approved a voucher for $970 payable to planner Richard May for completion of the Central Business District study.

FUND SETS '74 GOAL

Of $645,000. A goal of $645,000 has been set for the 1974 Princeton Area United Fund-Red Cross Campaign, Fred Fields, campaign chairman, has announced. The figure is seven per cent higher than last year's. The campaign will kick off October 1 and will run through October 31.

"Despite inflationary pressures, and requests from the United Fund agencies and the Red Cross exceeding $750,000, we are making every effort to hold the line on operating costs without curtailing services," Mr. Fields said.

Funds will be distributed among 21 member agencies serving Cranbury, East Windsor, Griggstown, Hightstown, Kingston, Montgomery, Plainsboro, Princeton, Rocky Hill, West Windsor, and adjacent areas of Hopewell, Lawrence, and South Brunswick Townships.

"We will have eight major fund-raising divisions this year," Mr. Fields said. They are Research and Industry,

If you do, or know somebody who does, "Telephone Reassurance" provides a reassuring answer to the question, "What if...."

It's a daily, free telephone call made at the same time each day, at an hour agreed on by the person living alone and the volunteer making the call. The volunteer calls to make sure you are all right. When you sign up, you provide the volunteer with the name of someone living near by who can check your home if your telephone isn't answered at the pre-arranged time.

Tax Analysis Misleading

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Mrs. Martindell's analysis of the proposed state income tax fails to include the amount which will be paid directly to the state by Princetonians. Perhaps the general local tax rate will not change, but the total individual tax outlay will skyrocket under the Byrne plan.

Her analysis is based on a hypothetical family earning between $7,000 and $13,000 per year, living in a house valued at $20,000. These figures are grossly misleading. The 1970 Federal census found a median family income over $22,000 and a median house valuation over $50,000. Inflation has probably raised both figures at least 20 percent.

A calculation based on this realistic data will show that the Byrne plan will cost the typical Princeton family very dearly. The average total tax bill can be expected to jump 50 percent.

It is ironic that this community should be asked to make such a sacrifice for "humanitarian" reasons. Princeton has led the state in providing services for minorities and low income families, and the taxpayers have funded these services for many years without complaint.

The crushing burden imposed by the Byrne plan may cause a voter backlash (witness the high school renovation referendum) that will jeopardize Princeton's traditionally liberal climate.

R. J. DURANT

Thoughts on School Bond.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The following letter has been sent to Winthrop Pike, President of the Princeton Regional Board of Education.

WILLIAM K. SELDEN
Chairman,
Citizens Advisory Committee
for Long-range Planning for Princeton's Schools

The results of the vote on the proposed bond issue for the renovation and improvement of the Princeton High School building will be a disappointment to the members of the Board of Education. It should not, however, be considered by the Board as a refutation of the need to improve the physical facilities for the high school students and faculty.

From my point of view the vote serves primarily as an indication that the citizens of Princeton considered $6.25 million to be a disproportionate increase in the total bonded indebtedness for the three local taxing authorities.

I will repeat what has previuously been called to theattention of the board of education: first, several assumptions, and then, some recommendations.

Assumption 1 - The physical plant for the Princeton High School is definitely in need of rehabilitation and improvement. This fact was confirmed by the Citizen's Advisory Committee on Long Range Planning in its reports of 1970 and 1971, and reconfirmed by subsequent professional analysis.

Assumption 2 - The community of Princeton has neither the physical space nor the economic resources to provide entirely separate physical facilities for all types of social demands. There is definite need for much greater coordinated planning in construction and joint use of facilities on the part of all public and tax exempt organizations.

Assumption 3 - The Borough of Princeton, the Township of Princeton, and the Princeton Regional Schools are separate legal taxing bodies. Nevertheless, their assessed taxes apply to the citizens of the Community of Princeton, and any increase in the bonded indebtedness of any one of these legal entities should be reviewed in the light of their total impact on the tax payers.

I urge again that the Board of Education act expeditiously tc resolve successfully the needs for physical improvements in the high school building, and the following steps be taken:

1 - Follow the recommendation of the CACLRP included in 1971 in its "Blueprint for Change" –

The concept that the community should serve as the classroom should underlie all planning. Special attention should be given, in planning for the renovation of the High School, to joint use of physical facilities by the municipalities and other educational organizations in the community...such as the YMCA-YWCA, and the Joint Board of Recreation.

This could obviate the necessity of such extensive alterations in the physical structure of the high school building as incorporated in the plans related to the $6.25 million proposed bond issue.

2 - Follow the recommendation of the CACLRP included in 1971 in its "Blueprint for Change" –

The Board of Education should establish the policy of appointing special committees, to be comprised of a Board member as chairman, and others, non-Board members, to serve for periods of no longer than one year; such committees to have authority only to study, analyze, and then present conclusions and recommendations to the Board through their respective chairmen.

If such a committee had been created to consider the financing and bond issue needed to renovate the high school building...it is quite likely that the unrealistic proposal for $6.25 million would not have been submitted to the voters, but rather a more modest sum. It is apparent that the Board did not give sufficient attention to the (community's) other financial demands. It can now do so, and the CACLRP proposed the means by which it could obtain citizen input.

"The Living Presidency," the latest book by Emmet Hughes, of 90 Olden Lane, is now out in paperback. It is not exactly the kind of paperback people would pick up to kill time at Gate 121 of the Port Authority, but it is probably exactly the kind of reading that will be invaluable to historians, students and observers of the passing political scene. It is a Penguin paperback, priced at $2.95.

Mr. Hughes, a journalist for more than 20 years with Time, Life, Fortune and Newsweek, an adviser in four Presidential campaigns, a speechwriter for President Eisenhower, and now a professor of politics at Rutgers, describes the relationship between the President and the people as "a kind of marriage, with all its vows, conflicts, doubts, and the need for patience and hope. Both kinds of union are called upon to sustain and survive the wild buffetings of chance and circumstance, wholly unforeseen by either partner."

Henry Steele Commager, the Amherst historian, calls the book "the most original, the most thoughtful, the most perspicacious book on the Presidency that I have ever read." President-watcher Hugh Sidey of Time says "this is an exciting book, rekindling a deep sense of the American adventure."

Mr. Hughes's book concludes with a supplement entitled, "The Presidency as I Have Seen It." This section contains brief biographical sketches of, and personal statments by, 12 men who have been close to the office of the Presidency. Included are Nelson Rockefeller, Abe Fortas, Bryce Harlow and Theodore Sorensen.

Jan C. Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore H. Lewis of 25 Lytle Street, will be included in the eighth annual edition of "Whos's Who Among American High School Students, 1974-74." A cheerleader at Princeton High School and recipient of the Gold Key Award, Miss Lewis will attend Douglass College in the fall.

David S. Thompson, 26 Rollingmead, executive secretary of the Council for University Resources at Princeton University, has been elected to the board of trustees of a new national education association being formed in Washington, D. C. He has also been named to its executive committee and was appointed chairman of an eight-member search committee charged with recommending candidates for the presidency of the new organization.

The association, temporarily designated AAC-ACPRA, results from the merger of the American Alumni Council and the American College Public Relations Association. It will serve almost 2,000 educational institutions and 6,000 individuals.

A 1939 graduate of Princeton, the 57-year-old Mr. Thompson was director of development and coordinator of a capital campaign which raised $60.7 million for his alma mater between 1959 and 1962. He has been a member of the University administration since 1957.

Navy Commander E. Kenneth Snedeker Jr., son of Mr. and Mr. Earl K. His wife, Ellen, is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. John C. Heater, 11 Edgehill Avenue, Lawrenceville.

Lee Aldrich, of 229 John Street, the singer, dancer and actor by night and an employee of Griggs Corner American gas station by day, is appearing as Pygmalion in "The Boys from Syracuse," now playing at Roosevelt Park in Metuchen. A veteran of three PJ & B productions and presentations by the Princeton Ballet Society, Mr. Aldrich will return to Roosevelt Park in August for "South Pacific."

John S. Rounds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Rounds of 342 Prospect Avenue was named to the Dean's list at Quinnipiac College for the spring semester. To receive this honor for academic excellence, the student must have earned a quality point average of 3.0 or better in the semester. Mr. Rounds is in the School of Liberal Arts majoring in history.

Two Princeton students were among those receiving undergraduate degrees at the 104th Commencement of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. They are Nancy R. Watkins, of 25 Monroe Road; and Phyllis L. Dixon, of 361 Gallup Road.

Patricia Kidd, daughter of Mr. And Mrs. Stephen Kidd, 36 Logan Drive, has been named to the Dean's List at Hood College in Frederick, Maryland. She recently completed her senior year at the private liberal arts college.

Bernard Kearney of 72 Palmer Square West, is chief of the intelligence division for the 36th Tactical Fighter Wing.

Previously assigned at Udorn Royal Thai AFB, Thailand, Major Kearney is a 1952 graduate of Loyola High School, Los Angeles, and earned a B.S. degree in history in 1957 from Fordham University, N.Y., where he was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

McLANAHAN REPEATS

As Men's Singles Champ. Sandy McLanahan won the Princeton Open Men's Singles Tennis Championships for the second straight year Sunday when he defeated Don Smith in the finals, 6-0, 6-2. It was the first in a series of matches in the annual Princeton Community Adult Summer Tennis Tournaments.

McLanahan played almost errorless tennis in gaining his victory over Smith, a former number 1 player nn the Browr University team, who couldn't match McLanahan's steady play. Toward the end of the first set, McLanahan brought applause from the onlookers by his spectacular return of a deep lob over his head and inches inside the base line with a backhand placement.

McLanahan defeated Al Hollander, nationally-ranked senior player, and Bill Foreman, local pro and former Open winner, on the way to the finals. Smith gained the finals by victories over Jeff Oakes of Princeton University and Gabriel Oduda of the Nigerian Tennis Team.

The Princetnn Open mens doubles will start Saturday morning at 9 at the Church Courts. Draw and seedings will be posted Friday at the Pagoda Courts. Entries must he received at the YTF Tennis Office by Thursday.

The women's singles matches are presently in progress with the women's doubles events scheduled to start July 20 and the Mixed Doubles July 27.

MEN'S SINGLES FINALISTS: Sandy McLanahan (right) receives congratulations from Don Smith whom he defeated, 6-0, 6-2, Sunday to win the Princeton Open Men's Singles Tennis Tournament. McLanahan was the defending champion.

FIRST GAME EVER WON

By Ingersoll Rand. For the first time since it joined the Princeton Business Softball league almost two years ago, Ingersoll Rand Research emerged on the winning side of a game, defeating a strong RCA(B) team 12-6.

Credit goes to winning pitcher Bill Merrill and Mike Condrat who contributed a home run, as well as John Edwards, Tony Onuchak, and Randy Wells, all of whom hit 3-4 in the well-deserved victory.

In other action, the first place hattle between Cities Service Research and Educational Testing Service continued deadlocked this week as both teams won. United Jersey Banks gave Cities Service a quick scare by unloading for seven runs in the top of the first, but Cities came back with nine in the bottom of the inning, and wound up on the high side of a 28-18 score.

Burtis Anderson had a perfect 5-5 night at the plate, while Al Anderson and Jack Sheldon matched each other with home runs and 4-5 hitting. Mike Beninda also added a four bagger for the winners, and Harry Gooding and Ron Sutpin homered for UJB.

ETS blasted National Computer Analysts 28-5 on 33 hits which featured two round trips apicce for Bill Degler and Pete Simonelli, and perfect 5-5 hitting by Chris Wynings. Bruce Szwast was 4-5, aod John Barone and Bones Gilbert turned in 3-4 performances. The winning pitcher was Jerry Kramer.

McGraw-Hill Loses. McGraw-Hill was knocked out of a three-way tie for first place, and into a two-way tie for second place due to the clutch hitting of ERC, which beat McGraw-Hill in the bottom of the seventh with two runs to make the final score 12-11.

Don DeCapio was 3-4 with a homer, and Dom Persichilli matched him without the homer. Bob Heinz had a perfect 3-3 night to help winning pitcher Skip Schroeder's effort. John Johnson and Dave Sands had homers for McGraw Hill.

The First National Bank of Princeton stayed in second place on the strong hitting effort of Dave Tessein, whose 4-5 hitting with a home run and eight RBI's set the pace for First National's 19-5 win over Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Labs. Sam Mather also hit a four bagger for First of Princeton, and Tim Kearns and Lenny DiPaolo both were 4-5, while winning pitcher Malcolm Rogers allowed GFDL only seven hits.

Firmenich outlasted Princeton Day School in a ten-inning battle to win 5-3 in a good defensive game. Bill Faulkner had a home run for Firmenich, and Tom Callighan was the high hitter with 3-4. Jim Anderson homered to lead Forrestal Research Center to a 6-3 win over American Cynamid, but the saver for Forrestal was a diving catch by Joe Frangiapanni in left field which kept Cynamid from scoring three runs to tie the game.

And finally North American Phillips Lighting upset (RCA(A) on the 4-for-3 hitting of Jerry Daniels with a final score of 14-3.

The standings at the end of the tenth week of play are:

PRINCETON ELIMINATED

From Babe Ruth Tournament. Princeton was eliminated from the District 1 Southern New Jersey Babe Ruth League Tournament Saturday night at Switlik Park when it was defeated, 8-0, by Hopewell.

It was the second straight loss for Princeton in the double elimination tournament. Earlier in the week, it had lost to Hamilton Nationals, 2-0, despite a two-hitter by Dana Nini.

Against Hopewell, Princeton was never in the game as Hopewell hurler Mark DeLucia tossed a no-hitter—the second in the tournament. Hopewell scored six of its runs in the second inning, knocking out starting pitcher Paul Soderman in the process. Big hits for the victors in the uprising were a two-run double by John Cammiso and Craig Miller's two-run single.

Miller was 4-for-4 and Hopewell shortstop J.D. Henderson contributed a pair of hits, one a home run.

Soderman pitched two and

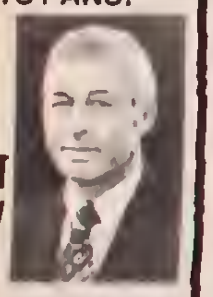
SPORTS FANS! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW



Brought to you By John Bernard

Here's quite a baseball oddity ... Catcher Milt May of Houston storted this season with a lifetime batting average in the majors of .275—and what makes this an oddity is that his father, Merrill May, had exactly the same lifetime batting average—.275—when he was in the Natinnal League exactly 30 years ago this year!

Did you know it was 35 years ago this summer that the first baseball game was televised? ... The first TV of a big league baseball game in history was on Aug. 26, 1939 ... It was a game between the Dodgers and Reds, with Red Barber at the microphone.

Here's a baseball quiz that although it looks fairly easy, oddly enough, very few people can answer it completely ... See if you can name the teams that won the World Series in each of the last five years ... Ready? ... The winner in 1973 and 1972 was Oakland ... In 1971 it was Pittsburgh ... In 1970 it was Baltimore, and in 1969, the New York Mets.

I bet you didn't know that we have an insurance policy that would have helped Lou Gehrig. We have all sorts of insurance, for people who think they can't buy insurance because of their health.

If you have a hearing loss serious enough to be a handicap, act now. Do something about it to prevent further deterioration. There are at least 5,000,000 people in the United States who are hard of hearing, believe it or not. And for those who are known to be hard of hearing, there are probably 5,000,000 more who are hard of hearing and will not acknowledge it. It's necessary to face the situation with courage, patience, and a wide open mind. You'll understand the world better.

two-thirds innings. He gave up six runs, five of them earned and struck out five. His teammates were guilty of five errors.

Errors again led to the downfall of Princeton and Nini in the game against Hamilton. The most damaging of four came in the sixth when Hamilton scored the game's first run.

Hamilton catcher Dave Searles walked, stole second and then scored when Princeton second basement John Silverman let a grounder run up his arm for an error.

Nini pitched hitless ball through the first four innings. He lost his no-hit bid when Kevin Bixby singled to open the fifth. The only other hit off him came in the last inning (when his counterpart, Len Gadsby singled home an insurance run with two down).

Although Gadsby yielded four singles (Scott Thompson, Dave Seagers, John Buccanfuso and Dave Shillaber), he spaced them out and did not allow a runner to reach third. "I knew the run would hold up," he said after the game, "because we play good defense." He was right: his teammates did not commit a single error, and helped him escape trouble with double plays in the fourth and fifth innings.

POST 76 SCORES UPSET

Then Loses Sunday. Princeton Post 76, which had climbed to the .500 mark Saturday with a 7-6 upset win over Hamilton PAL 313 Saturday, fell below that mark again when it lost, 7-3, the next day to Lawrence Post 414.

With three games left to play, Post 76 is 9-10 and in fourth place in the five-team Northern Division of the Mercer County Legion League.

Lawrence scored all the runs it needed in the first when it jumped on starter Daryl MacPherson for four runs, two of them coming on an error on a fielder's choice. Princeton fought back in the same inning when it rallied for all three of its runs. The big hit was Greg Christiansen's two-run single.

George Reynolds pitched the remaining six innings, giving up three hits, striking out two and walking three. Two of his free passes, however, came in the sixth with the bases loaded, sending home two insurance runs.

Lawrence pitcher Mark LaFranco won his fifth straight without a loss. MacPherson, the losing pitcher, is 1-2.

Princeton, which seems to thrive on upsetting league leaders, pulled the rug out from under Hamilton Saturday when it rallied for three runs in the seventh inning.

John Mooney, who pitched the first five innings for Post 76, started the inning with his second hit, a double. He scored when the Hamilton rightfielder slipped trying to field a line drive off the bat of Chris Crane which rolled for a triple.

John Evans then lined a single over short to tie the game and he later scored the winning run on another Hamilton error. Kevin Mason who worked the last four innings for Princeton, giving up two hits and two runs, got the win.

Mooney, who entered the game with a 5-1 record and is one of the leading hitters in the league, struck out six but was the victim of some poor fielding. Only one of the four runs off him was earned. Princeton committee five errors and hit three batters in the loosely-play contest.

Evans had three of Princeton's nine hits off two Hamilton pitchers, including a double. Pete Waiblinger contributed two more.

ENGINE CO. 1 HAS LEAD

Post 76 Trails by One Game. Engine Co. 1 won two games last week in the PYBA Little League to retain its hold on first place, while runner-up Post 76 split its two games to remain a game behind.

Engine No. 1 buried Italian American Sportsmen Club under a barrage of hits. Winning pitcher Peter Sharpless hit for the cycle and Randy Rose duplicated the feat, adding a second home run. Judd Petrone and Paul Heinzel each rapped three hits and Brent Robinson participated in the carnage with a homer.

In its other game, Engine No. 1 managed to hold off a last inning rally by Post 76 to eke out a 7-6 victory. Rose, the winning pitcher, aided his own cause with two hits, one a triple. Heinzel again had three hits and Sharpless added two more.

For the losers, Sean Cavanaugh connected for three hits including a triple. Chip Klieber had two hits, while Don Johnson belted a triple.

Post 76 was a 10-0 winner over Eagles in its second game to take over second place. Pitcher Tony Pittman gave up only one hit (to Glen Clark) and coasted home after his teammates scored six runs in the second inning.

Cavanaugh homered, tripled and singled for Post 76; Tom Lion tripled, doubled and singled and Johnson homered to lead the winners' attack.

The Eagles then gained a split when they combined the two-hit pitching of Pat McAvenia with the hitting of Glen Clark, John Denney and Chris Green who had two hits apiece to hand IASC its second straight loss. Norm Lewis homered for the losers.

Roma Eterna exploded for 22 runs in a rout of UA Local 380. John Kendall fanned 13 and had five hits including a four-bagger for a complete performance. Mark Adams drove in seven of the 22 runs with a homer and pair of doubles.

Paul Tomasi drove in all three of the losers' runs with three doubles. The only other hit yielded by Kendall was a triple to Josh Miller.

Local 380 came back with a 13-8 victory over Engine No. 3 behind the pitching of Leroy Hunninghake who also tripled. Miller and Bert Pirone led the victors at the plate, the latter driving in a pair of runs with a triple. Dave Blaxill, Mark Miller, Mike Miller and Cliff Gibbons all hit safely for Engine No. 3.

In their other start, Blaxill had four hits and Dave Lewis had a three-run homer as Engine No. 3 defeated Elks, 11-3. Gibbons got the win. Jeff

WEST WINDSOR FIRST

In Babe Ruth League. Despite its second loss of the season to JAM industries, West Windsor last week clinched the first half title in the Mercer County Senior Babe Ruth League. The 8-2 loss left West Windsor with a 9-2 first half record. The team then got off to quick start in second-half competition, defeating Lawrence VFW, 5-3, and Hightstown VFW, 6-5.

Tom Murphy's fourth triple in as many games helped West Windsor jump into an early lead for pitcher Joe Czeslowski against JAM. Five singles off Czeslowski in the fifth inning yielding five runs for JAM.

The league's second half opened with action on the Fourth of July. West Windsor trailed early in its game with Lawrence, but tied the score in the fourth and went ahead in the sixth, as Jeff Drummond tripled and scored on an infield grounder. Jim Wetterling struck out 12 and allowed five hits.

West Windsor again started slowly on Saturday, trailing Hightstown 3-0 after one inning. Murphy then got back on his triples streak and was driven home by Dave Duncan to make the score 3-2 after four.

Then West Windsor bunched its hits for four runs in the fifth. After a pair of walks Steve Jones singled for one run, Murphy doubled to drive in two, and Drummond added an RBI single.

Winning pitcher John Madden walked two Hightstown batters and gave up two singles in the sixth inning, as the lead was narrowed to a single run. He also walked the leadoff man in the seventh, but settled down to retire the last three batters. His team bailed him out of a potential jam in the fourth with a double play that retired the side.

IVY, CONTE LEAD

In Adult Softball. By sweeping its two games last week in the Princeton Recreation Adult Softball League, Conte-Staats boosted its record to 11-1 – the top record in the twelve-team league.

Using a six run fourth inning, Conte-Staats defeated Tiger Auto, 9-1. Charlie Warshefski, with two hits and two runs scored, paced the victors.

Conte-Staats defeated P.I.A.S.C., 6-2, in its other game. The Big Red's only loss came at the hands of the Italian's earlier in the season. For the winners, Mark Hasson had three hits to lead the attack.

Center Sports kept its playoff hopes alive as it topped Phox's 10-2, and Tiger Auto, 11-10. Against Phox's, Brendon Layton enjoyed a big night as he had four hits, including a triple and two home runs.

The Tiger Auto game saw Center Sports score four runs in the bottom of the last inning to gain the victory. Lance Marshall and Frank Caponi each had three hits for the winners. Phil White also added a homer. Jim Stonacker homered for Tiger Auto.

Andy's Tavern recorded a big win over Teague & Hinds, 7-6. Trailing by a run, with two out and nobody on in the bottom of the last inning, John Barone homered to tie the game. Jeff Wetterling then singled, one of three hits, and eventually came around to score the winning run.

In the other league action, Sannino's defeated winless P.M.C. 14-1. The victors collected 25 hits, four by Mike Cimerola. Vince O'Brien had three hits for the Medical Center.

Sports N Things defeated Phox's, 8-5. Player-manager Don Pierre had three hits to pace the victory.

Ivy Inn edged Sannino's in a tight ballgame, 5-4. Bob Klek homered for the Barmen, while Bruce Sandvick had three safeties for Sannino's.

P.I.A.S.C. defeated Sports N Things, 6-4. The Italians received three hits each from Doug Heil and Jim Reese to gain the win.

WINNERS NAMED

In Ladies' Tennis League. Sponsored by the Princeton Recreation Department, the Ladies Competitive Tennis Leagues ended its first series this Tuesday with a Tennis Roundup for all players at Community Park courts. A total of 22 doubles teams competed in the newly-organized League activity.

Winners in the "A" League were Joyce Clark and Rosemary Lewis, who had a perfect record of 9-0. Runners-up were Laura Goldfeld and Miriam Leinwoll who ended with a 8-1 score. A close third was the team of Patty Wall and Peggy Warner, with a 7-2 record.

An engraved "travelling" trophy tray was awarded to each first place team, and will be transferred to the new winners after each series.

In July, there will be an informal League competition for those who are interested in playing during the summer.

Anyone interested in League play in the fall should contact Jacque Okerlander at 924-7433 or Laura Goldfeld at 921-2820 or call the Recreation Office between 9-5 at 924-9480.

In Jr. Princeton Open. Princeton University courts were the scene of the finals of the Junior Princeton Open held last week.

With more than 200 entries, the draws of boys 18, 16 and 14 had representatives from Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware as well as a team from Nigeria presently being hosted in Princeton by the USLTA and the Princeton Community Tennis Program.

In the 14 and under event, Flip Ruben and Allen Aronovic were seeded No. 6 and No. 8. However, two unseeded players reached the finals, Curt West from Woodbury and Ignatius Equabor of Nigeria with West emerging the victor, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2.

Princeton entries were: Simeon Hutner, Bob Flippin, Allen Aronovic, Evan Press, Chuck Kohli, Mark Goodman, Jim Billington, Nick Donath, Jim Parmele, Pat Zuccarelli, Larry Edelman, Henry Fischer and Princeton's Nigerian guests.

In the boys 14 doubles, the team of West - Aronovic and Ruben - Pindus reached the semi-finals. In the finals, the unseeded Nigerian team of Otaber and Equabor lost to Ramsay and Hillyard, 6-2, 6-4.

From a field of close to 100, Princetonian Dan Aronovic was seeded No. 8 of 16 seeds in the 16's and under competition. Other entries were: Hugo Walter, Jeff Lyle, Michael Rose, Keith Usiskin, Dan Amarel, Derek Straut, Brian Reilly, Jonathan Silverman, Malcolm Benjamin, Steve Ebersole, and Nigerian guests, Emmanuel Nduku Odizor and Solomon Ona. Tim McAvoy, No. 11 seed, defeated Brian Lynn in the finals. Seeded No. 2, Tim McAvoy and Robert Vance won the doubles trophy. Dan Aronovic and Jeff Lyle paired to reach the quarter finals where they bowed to No. 4 seeds Nduka Odizar and Solomon Ona. Other Princeton entries were the teams of: Derek Straut and Jim Parmele, Dan Amarel and Malcolm Benjamin, Simeon Hutner and Hugo Walter.

Winners in two events and also a member of a winning relay team were Yuka Manabe in the 8-u girls backstroke, freestyle and medley relay; and Paul Keaney in the 10-u boys freestyle, backstroke and medley relay.

Individual winners were Carrie Kidd in diving; Marc Coutin, backstroke; Cathy Langridge, breaststroke; Dorothy Dyson, breaststroke; and Mike Stix, butterfly.

SPRING DOUBLES END

In West Windsor. The annual spring doubles tennis league sponsored by West Windsor's Recreation Commission has concluded its season with two teams sharing playoff honors. In the late men's doubles league the team of Bob Halpin, Gordon Hansen and Dave Sifter, second place at the end of regular season play, defeated the fourth place team of John Perlitz, Bob Little and Dick Dearborn, 3-6, 6-2 and 7-5.

In the finals of the women's evening doubles playoffs, Antonia Flint, Jill O'Donnell and Gay Sifter, third place in league standings, defeated the fourth place finishers, Richela Bobeck, Lorraine Haws and Kathy Murray, 3-6, 6-2, 7-5.

The West Windsor league assigns three players to each team so that forfeits due to players being occupied at home or work are kept to a minimum. If all three players on a team show up for a match, they substitute between sets.

The winners in the late men's league easily knocked off the team of Marty Birnbaum, Bob Murray and Ken Syberg, 6-1, 6-1, to reach the finals. Perlitz, Little and Dearborn had pulled the playoff upset by surprising the first-place team in the league, Jim Bishop, Joe Campion and Harry Wyckoff, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

Flint, O'Donnell and Sifter reached the women's finals by defeating Marilyn Dey, Myra Hachman and Pat Fallon, 6-1, 6-2. Bobeck, Haws and Murray had upset the league champion team of Lillian Black, Noreen Fallon and Gwen Hansen, 6-3, 6-2, to reach the finals.

Finals in the early men's league playoffs were delayed by rain. Hilton Anderson, Gary Fallon and Pat Summers advanced to the finals by outlasting Ernie Rich, Vic Payne and Nick Rzewsky, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3. The team of Olof Hogrelius, Ed Jordi and Bernt Midland defeated Ralph Bloom, Tom Boyer and Tony Zuccarello, to also reach the finals.

Open to all residents of Mercer County, the tournament will begin at 8 a.m. Tee-off time will continue until 10:30 a.m. Registrations will be accepted by phone or at the clubhouse until 7 p.m. of the day before the event. No post entries will be accepted.

BALLOONIST SECOND

In Canadian Race. A Princeton businessman for whom ballooning is both a sport and an occupation floated into a tie for second in a hot air balloon race held last weekend in Winnipeg, Manitoba. Bob Waligunda, the 28-year-old president of Sky Promotions of 20 Nassau Street, split the second place money of $6,000.

Waligunda competed in a "hounds and hare" event, in which the "hare" is a lead balloon that is floated aloft five minutes before the "hounds" give chase. Points are awarded in relation to how close the hound lands to the hare. The winner in the Winnipeg race, a man from Pleasant Valley, N. Y., named Bill Hughes, scored 47 points.

The second place winners, Waligunda and Joe Jackson of Albuquerque, N.M., each had 40 points.

Sky Promotions provides various forms of aeriel advertising and balloon spectaculars. A balloon piloted by Waligunda is featured in a series of commercials done for Lark cigarets. Two Sky Promotion balloons, including one that is believed to be the world's largest hot air balloon, are used as attractions for the Great Adventure safari park in Prospertown.

Early this week Waligunda had still not returned from Canada. He called his office from Montreal and reported he was having trouble making connections with the airlines.

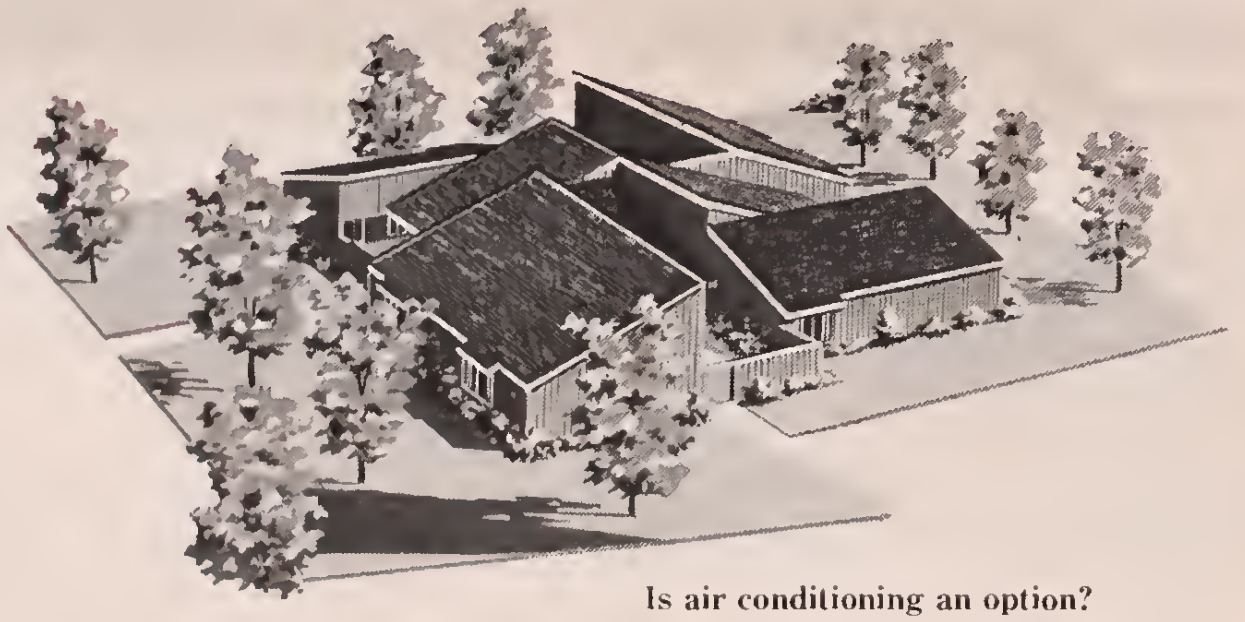
Gold Medallion Total Electric Living

How do you measure the true value of a house?



Is cost per square foot important?

Look at it this way. Our cluster house gives you more actual living space and more modern living conveniences than some single homes. Now that's value. And that doesn't even include our basement, which at your leisure can be transformed into a recreation room, study or dark room. Or all of them.

Do you have a large entry court?

Our entry courts are large enough to hold a small party, and private enough to leave out your neighbors. You probably won't. But at least you have a choice.

Can you select a floor plan?

At Regent's Park we give you five different models to choose from. Choose one with two bedrooms and one bath. Or one with two bedrooms and two baths. Or with three bedrooms and two baths. One with a fireplace or without a fireplace. Choices and more choices. With any plan you choose, you'll get good one-floor traffic flow.

Is air conditioning an option?

Not at Regent's Park. It comes with your home—without an extra charge. Our Cluster Homes come complete with self-cleaning range and range hood. A huge refrigerator-freezer, dishwasher and disposal. You get the best of everything. Right down to sparkling ceramic tile in the bathroom.

Is the neighborhood as nice as the house?

Regent's Park is pretty enough to make your heart sing. Lots of open space everywhere. A lighted bicycle path and play area for the kids. A planned pool. And something a lot of communities don't have—the quaint shops of Mount Holly only 4 blocks away. And large shopping centers and good schools within walking distance.

The cluster house. It measures up and beyond.
